All Systems Are GO!

. . . And we have "lift off" as UCA launches its first major Capital Campaign since 1995. A new Dining Commons and Water Tower Plaza have been the focus of our building committee meetings for the last 12 months. This group of professionals have volunteered hundreds of hours researching and interviewing prospective architects and contractors, wrestling with lists of needs and wants, while navigating the rough waters of budgets and design challenges. They are a treasure!

As details begin to unfold, there are always questions. We share some of them below, along with the answers. Quarterly updates will follow on the UCA Web site (www.ucaa.org) or be sent out by mail and/or internet.

I HAVE A QUESTION!

Q. How much are we trying to raise in this Capital Campaign?

A. Our goal is $3,000,050 to build a new Dining Commons and Water Tower Plaza

Q. When do you plan to start building?

A. Right away!

Q. Why haven't we heard much about this campaign up until now?

A. When you begin a large fundraising campaign like this, after your project is vetted and approved by the appropriate boards and committees, the "Silent Phase" begins. During this time, visits to capable donors take place to see if they are interested and willing to help. When you have a strong base of support and have raised a certain percentage of your goal, you announce the "Public Phase" of the campaign and step on the gas! That's where we are now.

Q. How much money have you raised in the Silent Phase of UCA's Campaign?

A. The Board set $2,100,000 as the goal to reach before we broke ground. And we have it! Praise God!

Q. What are the two largest gifts UCA has received so far?

A. $1,000,000 and $500,000

Q. Can I spread out my giving?

A. Yes, monthly or quarterly gifts are very welcome. Some are taking as much as three or four years in order to be able to give a larger amount.

Q. Why are you building a new cafeteria rather than remodeling the one we have?

A. There are multiple reasons:

1. All the kitchen equipment, with the exception of a few small items, is obsolete. Repair service and parts are no longer available from the manufacturers.
2. Spokane County says our cafeteria sits on a "flood plain." Therefore, the insurance company will not insure the building or any of the contents (new or old) against flood damage.
3. Maintenance Director Jim Mann says that in the last flooding episode several years ago the basement was full of mud and flood waters went through the cafeteria as well. The compressors for the refrigeration units were under water, but fortunately someone was around that could shut off the power and wade in to muck out and salvage the equipment. No structural damage was found.
4. The drains in the floor of the kitchen area are not connected to drainage pipes under the building. Because there is no room to get under there, adjustments and repairs are impossible.

CALLING ALL CONTRACTORS:

If you would like to bid on sub contracting any of the jobs listed for the new Dining Commons and Water Tower Plaza Project, please contact the Alumni Office IMMEDIATELY! We are almost ready to begin. By boosting your company's business, we hope that you might help lower the total cost for UCA. Of course, donations of materials and or services are accepted, but not expected.

Many Options . . . All Good!

How to Make a Lasting Difference for Upper Columbia Academy!

As a donor, some find it confusing how best to support the Academy we love and the students who attend it. There are a number of options - all good! Listed are the organizations able to partner with you in accepting your tax deductible donations, whether you desire to honor the past or support the present in anchoring the future of UCA.

UCA:

Gifts given directly to UCA are used for immediate and often urgent, worthy student needs, as well as for major campus improvements and special projects (currently the new Dining Commons).
www.ucaa.org

UCA Foundation:

The UCA Foundation was established by a group of UCA Alumni as a separate 501(c)3 to house gifts designated for long-term investment. Funds are professionally managed and the interest and dividends earned are given to UCA annually in the form of student scholarships (approx. $50,000 for the '12-'13 school year.) Endowments have been established to honor families, individuals, or groups to create a legacy of giving. Current named funds include: Olin Peach, JV Peters, Wayne Hooper, Eric Molstead, Shaun Lunt, Lambertson Family, Littler Family Memorial, Prewitt Memorial, Jay Smith Memorial and the Class of '55. www.ucafoundation.org

Upper Columbia Conference:

Because UCA is the official boarding school for the Upper Columbia Conference, their support is generous and significant. By continuing to build an educational endowment through the Streams of Light Campaign, the Conference is able to give a growing portion of its investment earnings to UCA each year while supporting other schools in the region at the same time.

Upper Columbia Conference Trust Services:

Should you desire guidance or ideas on how to create a financial legacy by including UCA in your will or estate plan, the Trust Services Department has professionally trained officers who can assist you. UCA Alumni Andrew McCrary '87, Director and Troy Patzer '94 are at your service.

Local Churches:

Your local church (most likely) financially supports students from your congregation who wish to attend UCA. Talk to your pastor or treasurer.

THANK YOU to all of you who have a dedicated commitment to keep UCA strong and vibrant through these supporting organizations!

Yakima Valley Academy Alumni Reunion

Save the dates of April 22 and 23, 2013, for a Sentimental Journey Reunion in Walla Walla. These dates are just prior to the university alumni festivities so if you want to attend both grab your reservations soon! More information will be forth-coming to a mailbox near you after the first of the year.

Southern California Alumni Events

The UCA Flute Ensemble and their director, Dean Kravig, presented worship and a dinner concert for two gatherings of YVA and UCA Alumni in Loma Linda in January of this year.

The students enjoyed mingling and getting acquainted with those who attended. Between the musical numbers, the girls introduced themselves and shared their testimonies of how the Lord has blessed them in being able to attend UCA.

The UCA Flute Ensemble relaxes after a concert in the Chan Shun Pavilion on the campus of Loma Linda University

Alumni Invited to Upcoming Music Programs

The UCA Band, Orchestra, and Choraliens will be going on tour in the Yakima area November 2 and 3, 2012. They will be at the All Nations Center-35th Avenue Adventist Church.

For those in the Spokane area on December 15, please come and celebrate the Christmas season with a sacred concert in the UCA Church followed on December 20 by "Christmas at the Fox."

Newest Alumni Participate in Valuegenesis Study

The seniors in the class of 2012 were asked to fill out a survey on the eve of their graduation, which will include them in the Valuegenesis study being conducted by La Sierra University. This research project began in 1989 and continues today, studying the faith and values of young people who attend Adventist Academies in North America.

The survey showed that 90% of UCA's senior class is going on to college, 77% to a 4-year school, and 68% of them have chosen an Adventist College or University. In addition, one student is going on for further vocational training, one has joined the military, three went directly into mission service and two are staying out to work for awhile. "The results spoke well for our students," said Florence Lacey, vice principal for academics.

Plan Your Summer Volunteer Week

June 12-26 is Volunteer Week at UCA. Projects will include re-roofing faculty homes, re-building a garage, landscaping, and numerous other jobs.

Housing and food are supplied. Please email Jim.Mann@ucaa.org if interested.

Happy 20th Birthday Prayer PATCH . . .

Two ministries that would enrich and help to shape the positive spiritual atmosphere that UCA is known for, came into being twenty years ago. Prayer PATCH. (People Actively Touching Children's Hearts) was the vision of Sue Patzer, mom of three UCA students. She knew there was power in prayer and there could never be too much of it. She realized that some students who came to UCA, might not be from families that would pray for them... and that problem needed to be addressed. Though there have been several directors since Prayer PATCH began, the program continues today, thanks to almost 300 volunteers who willingly remember a specific staff member or student(s) on a regular basis in their prayers. Gratitude for those who "stand in the gap" to pray for our students runs deep among parents, students and staff. This came from the mother of one student: "I am a single Mom and am so, so grateful to know that someone else out there is joining me to pray for my son." Might you consider being one of our prayer guardians? Call 509-245-3614 or email carol.choa@uca.org.

and HOPE Taskforce!

The concept of cancelling a day of school six times a year and organizing the entire staff and student body into teams that would serve in the surrounding communities, came from then Principal Larry Marsh - inspired by what he read in Christian Service, by Ellen White. "It was a huge job to find places for 360 students and staff members to be useful, all on the same day!" said Linnea Torkelsen, the first HOPE director.

In 1995, UCA students went door-to-door collecting children's t-shirts to send to Rwanda.

"When we began the program, we not only had to find 30 or more organizations that would allow us to send a group, but I had to convince them to try us. The idea that teenagers were willing to volunteer to work was foreign and almost suspicious to them!" They soon learned that UCA students work fast and efficiently, they're pleasant and have fun doing it, and ask what else they can do when they're done! HOPE Taskforce is still a part of what every student experiences at UCA. "We want our students to be able to identify need, and wherever they find it, they will be practiced and ready to respond to it," said Torkelsen. "We're training good citizens for this world and the next."

Service projects in the 90s as now, two decades later, includes service to young and old alike.

Did You Know?

. . . that for the last few years we have averaged 23 student baptisms per year?

. . . that last school year, students participated in mission trips to Alaska, Guatemala, Honduras, India, and Lake Chelan in Washington!

. . . that 71% of our students are involved in UCA's music program? Choraliars, Octet, Choir, Trombone Choir, Sax Quartet, Flute Ensemble, String Ensemble, Concert Band, keyboard, voice, guitar, cello, string and instrument lessons AND the amazing Eight Hands on a Grand!

. . . that students conducted worship services in 27 Upper Columbia Conference congregations during the school year?

. . . that UCA hosts a Technology Fair every other year? Last year 162 guests from 13 Adventist schools attended. They tried their hand at stained glass, robotics, welding, drafting, and woodworking,

. . . that five staff members regularly conduct Bible studies on campus? In addition, student led Bible studies take place in the dorms. Pastor Fred says "If we have Bible studies, students come! We have noticed an on-going and growing interest."

. . . that three weeks of prayer are held on campus each year, which includes the student week of prayer? In addition to those, the girls organized a week of spiritual emphasis just for their dorm.

. . . that a 19,000 square foot tent was pitched on the ball field this summer for Upper Columbia Conference's camp meeting? The tent is the largest in the NW and used four center poles to support it.

. . . that Sabbath morning, the Peach Power House is open for an hour of informal student/staff sharing and prayer before Sabbath school begins? The Power House is also open daily for prayer time at noon.

. . . that the faculty and UCA Board of Trustees are all studying the book EDUCATION in an effort to follow the blueprint more closely.

. . . that UCA Alumni are serving as missionaries in 11 different countries? Nicaragua, Honduras, China, Saipan, Thailand, S. Korea, Cambodia, New Guinea, Australia, Sri Lanka, and India.

UCA Welcomes New Administrators

The campus welcomes John Winslow back to our administrative team, this time as our new principal. He succeeds Troy Patzer '94, who has become a Trust Officer at Upper Columbia Conference. John's broad experience as an electrician, a teacher, a school treasurer, a development officer, director of technology, boys dean and vice-principal (UCA) as well as principal of Champion Academy, along with his degree in Computer Information Systems and a BA and MA in Business Administration, uniquely qualifies him to take care of just about anything that goes wrong here! His wife Allison and their three children join him in this new adventure of leading the largest boarding school in North America.

Also joining the Administrative team is Benjie Maxson as our new vice principal and head boys dean. Benjie graduated from UCA in 1995 and from Southern Adventist University (Cum Laude!) in 2001. He has worked as a Chaplain, Bible teacher and Recruiter for Highland View and Champion Academies, was ordained as a minister in 2008 and most recently served as Youth Director for the Rocky Mountain Conference in Denver, CO. He is joined by his wife Kartini and their son Benjamin.

In addition to the changes in Administration, UCA also welcomes Rob Beaton as Food Service Director replacing Kelly Santee; and Pastor Jon Weigley who replaced Pastor Ken Wetmore.

The Maxson Family

$52,000 Stands Between Eight Students and UCA Right NOW!

Eight students are on a list with a header that reads Needs a Financial Miracle. The stories every year are amazingly similar and often just as sad as those the previous year, and the year before that: Mom died of cancer . . . Dad not in his life . . . Homeless (this happens more than you would think) . . . Dad lost his job . . . One parent tried to commit suicide and the other parent wants the child in a stable and safe setting . . .

Every parent or guardian is expected to pay something. But with fees topping $16,000 per year for a dorm student, it is a difficult challenge. It is no longer possible for students to "work their way through" as in the good 'ole days. Washington State labor laws have become so restrictive and requirements for a college preparatory diploma so much more demanding, that between needing to take more required class hours and the stringent work restrictions, students are unable to work as much as they used to in order to off-set their bills.

Many prayers are being offered by those students and their parents for something that seems impossible to them. But we know that with God all things are possible. We know, because there used to be 24 students on that list! If you should be impressed to assist Heaven in answering these prayers, please contact Debbie Nelson at 509-245-3692 or email her at debbie.nelson@uca.org.

UCA Hosts "Finding Kind" Campaign

Last spring, UCA hosted a screening of a documentary film called Finding Kind. This event was part of a nationwide campaign to raise awareness of and combat bullying, especially among girls. The film deals with issues of jealousy, gossip, competition, relationships and personal worth . . . put together by two young women who experienced the effects of this girl against girl "crime" in their public school.

Schools from the neighboring communities around Spangle were invited to bring their female students. A number of committed Adventist women were brought in to be mentors in the small group discussions and prayer at the end of the movie. Groups were encouraged to practice empathy, self control and KINDness.

The Good Work the Lord Began in Malawi . . .

This is what the Lord began in Malawi due to lots of caring hearts in Spangle! It has since been completed.

Roxanne Fleck Wickward '84, current History teacher at UCA, affirms the promise in Philippians 1 in her follow up report on UCA's Malawi Mission project six years ago.

After a mission trip to Malawi, former Industrial Education teacher Chuck Paulson came home with the conviction he needed to do more. After much prayer, he and his wife Loralee personally purchased several hectares of land adjacent to the Chasefu SDA Church in Muzuzu, Malawi and decided it to the church with a shared desire to see a medical clinic, a school and perhaps a children's village or orphanage.

In 2007, I joined the Paulson's in sponsoring 30 UCA students and a small medical staff to begin working on that dream. Ground breaking for the medical facility took place amidst free medical and dental clinics, a VBS attended by 1,500 kids, and a ShareHim Evangelistic series where our students were singing and preaching to 2,500 children and 4,000 adults. Besides their outreach efforts, they engaged in not just a little back-breaking physical labor, as the building process began.

In the ensuing years there were challenges with funding, but prior to his death, Olin Peach helped to set in motion a proposal to Maranatha International that has resulted in the very recent completion of the school. The Chasefu SDA church now has a K-12 grade school that can hold 800 students! God did not forget Mzuzu and neither have we! The excitement of being a part of this ministry continues in the hearts of those of us blessed to be part of that UCA mission trip!

SHAREHIM HONDURAS 2012

Thirteen UCA students along with several supporting pastors and staff members, held six sets of ShareHim evangelistic meetings in Honduras over Spring Break, resulting in 30 baptisms including one of the student evangelists from UCA!

Mission Possible Valdez, Alaska!

Eight students and four staff members from UCA went on somewhat of an unusual mission trip last March. For most mission trips you pack for hot weather, but this group knew they were headed for cold country. However they were not quite prepared for the 37.5 feet of snow that preceded their arrival in Valdez, Alaska.

The purpose of their mission trip was to encourage the church members there and help them make improvements to their fellowship hall. In short order, it was clear that the work they had planned to do took less time than they'd budgeted, OR . . . they were more efficient in their work than they thought possible! So in addition to replacing the flooring and painting the inside, students and staff put on an evangelistic series, helped with a much needed deep cleaning of the entire church and shoveled more than a little snow! "Though we may not know all the results of our evangelism until Jesus comes, He allowed us to know that our ministry touched one life in a very special way, and we praise the Lord for that small window into His workings."

Alumni Weekend's Coming!

It is not unusual to have 1,000 or more on our campus for Alumni Homecoming! So reserve your hotel or RV spot (UCA has a new RV Park), contact your old friends and COME! Honored classes end in 2 (because its 2012) and 7 (for classes who want a reunion half way between the decade events.)

The exciting news is that on Friday evening just before sundown, we will have a GROUND BREAKING ceremony for the new Dining Commons & Water Tower Plaza. Meet outside the front doors of the gym and join us for the short celebration as the shovels dig in.

Following Ground Breaking, join us for sundown vespers as Carl and Teresa Appley Wilkens share their incredible journey during the genocide in Rwanda.

Sabbath morning, Sabbath School and Church are combined in one service beginning at 10 am and ending at noon. Richard Hart, President of Loma Linda University will be our alumni speaker for the worship hour.

The general weekend schedule is on the cover page. For further information, you may contact the Alumni office at 509-245-3692 or email alumni@ucaa.org.

Richard Hart '62

Richard Hart, Sabbath Speaker

Our Sabbath morning worship speaker is Dr. Richard Hart, proud UCA alumnus and member of the honored class of 1962. After graduation at Spangle, Dick went on to get his BA at Walla Walla College, his MD and MPH at Loma Linda and his PH.D. at Johns Hopkins University.

His heart for service was evident early on as he became the first student missionary from the Adventist Church to serve outside North America. On completion of his internal medicine residency, Dr. Hart continued his interest in international service as head of the Kilimanjaro Christian Medical Centre Health Department in Tanzania and subsequently served Tanzania's ministry of health for two years as chief for the United States Agency for International Development (USAID).

Since March of 2008, Dr. Hart has been president of Loma Linda University, where his focus on service as a core value inherent in the campus culture has contributed to outreach efforts that respond to needs at home and abroad, including Students for International Mission Service (SIMS) - a program that places between 300 and 400 students in service learning opportunities in fifty countries; Social Action Community Health System (SACHS) - a local, low cost primary health care network for the medically underserved; and Adventist Health International - a management corporation established to strengthen Adventist mission hospitals worldwide - and that just names a few.

Dick is married to his academy sweetheart, Judy Osborne Hart '61, and they have been blessed with three daughters and seven grandchildren who add spice and delight to their journey. The Hart's commitment to God, family, church, and the work of Adventist education remains strong as he leads new generations to answer the call to serve.

Carl and Teresa Wilkens, Friday Night Vespers Speakers

Our speakers for Friday night Alumni Vespers features Carl '76 and Teresa Appley '77 Wilkens. In 1994 the Wilkens were heading the Adventist Development and Relief Agency in Rwanda. Sending the family home on ahead of him, Carl chose to remain in the country after the historical genocide began. His choice to stay and his efforts to help, prevented the massacre of hundreds of children over the course of that terrible time.

Carl '76 and Teresa '77 Wilkens

Concerned by the ongoing genocide in Darfur and Sudan, Carl and Teresa were inspired to do more. They quit their jobs and now dedicate their time to an educational non-profit they founded called "World Outside My Shoes." Their humanitarian work has been recognized with numerous awards, among them, The Medal of Valor, '05, from The Simon Wiesenthal Center, and in '08, The Religious Liberty Award.

Carl and Teresa have criss-crossed the world using Jesus method of story-telling to inspire and equip people to stand up against the hatred and intolerance that spawned those atrocities in Rwanda.

Look for Carl's new book, I'M NOT LEAVING at a bookstore near you!

Come Join the Peach Fun Run Alumni Weekend

Phrases like “Energizer Bunny” or “Always on the run” were frequently used to describe Olin Peach. Very few if any ever beat him down the ski slope or in the hike to the top of the mountain or out-worked him in laying block or bricks on a mission trip! He was amazing!

After Mr. Peach’s untimely death, his family established an Endowment with the UCA Foundation that would honor his care for those in need and celebrated outstanding integrity in their work ethic and citizenship. Currently the fund holds $55,000 and has begun to accrue more significant interest and dividends which will be paid out in awarding the 2013 scholarship. Up until this point, the three $1,000 awards have been subsidized by Olin’s family and friends so that the account could grow.

Come honor his enthusiastic commitment to UCA and all it stands for . . . Participate in Alumni Week-ends’ Peach Fun Run/Walk on Sunday morning, October 7 at 8 a.m. You’ll re-energize yourself and help raise funds for the Olin Peach Memorial Scholarship Fund and enjoy a pancake breakfast afterwards. Pre-register at www.ucafoundation.org or just show up! Alumni, family, and friends are all welcome, even if just to cheer on the runners!

Annual Report of Donor Support to Upper Columbia Academy Foundation

The following alumni and friends were donors to the UCA Foundation during their fiscal year ending December 31, 2011. They will print an annual report at the end of the year, but we wanted to recognize those who are supporting UCA through the managed endowment. As with any donor list, every effort has been made to be accurate in reporting, but should we have missed someone, please notify the foundation at ucafsd@gmail.com.

The Upper Columbia Academy Foundation is again sponsoring the annual Homecoming Golf Tournament. This year will be especially meaningful, since there will be a short ceremony officially naming the event after alumnus Bob Larrabee, the originator of the foundation tournament eight years ago.

The tournament will feature a

4-person team scramble format, gift bags for all players, team prizes,

closest to the pin prize, longest drive prize for men and women and a special hole in one prize. Gather a group of classmates and represent your class, while helping to raise funds for student scholarships at
